

ADPH Annual Conference & AGM – 15th May 2012

Event Evaluation Report

69 delegates, guests and speakers attended the conference, and 36 (52%) of these attendees completed an evaluation form.

Of the respondents:

- 34 (94%) considered the day a good use of their time
- 26 (72%) had made new contacts
- 24 (67%) had learnt something new
- 27 (75%) felt that they had made a valuable contribution to the discussions

Summary

Given the current transitions in Public Health, hearing from the new Public Health England CEO was a highlight for many delegates at this year's annual conference. Similarly, many were highly motivated hearing from the Local Authority speakers, and took away personal action plans relating to working more closely with local authority and others in their locality. The vast majority of respondents felt that the day was a good use of their time, and that it provided them with opportunities for valuable discussion with colleagues, and enabled them to share experiences, network, and take away new learning. The need for similar events in the future is evident from the range and number of suggestions made by many of the attendees.
